

THE RENTER'S SOLILOQUY.

"To rent, or not to rent—that is the question; Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer The slings and arrows of an outraged landlord, Or to take arms against these miserable conditions, And by owning my own home end them? To live; to own a home; Yes, and by owning to say I end The heartache, and the thousand natural shocks That tenantry is heir to, 'tis a consummation Devoutly to be wished. To live, to own; To own; perchance to acquire riches—aye, there's the blessing; For in that state of happiness, what dreams come true, When we have shuffled off this coil of rent, Must give us pause. There's the horror That makes renting of so long disgrace; For who would bear the whips and scorns of servility, The landlord's insistence, the proud man's shame, The pangs of a wife's complaining, the ever-recurring rent day; The insolence of collectors, and the spurs That the patient renter receives from his neighbors, When he himself might his satisfaction secure With a home of his own? Who would burdens bear, To grunt and sweat under a landlord's dictum, But that the glory of something to come, The paradise of a home of one's own, from whose bourn No traveler wishes to return, puzzles the will, And makes us rather bear those ills we have, to Later fly to other things that we long to have? Thus renting does make cowards of us all; And thus the native hue of resolution Is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of our imprisonment, And enterprises of great pith and moment With this regard their currents turn our way, And we lose the name of tenants."

The Trent Trust Company, Ltd., can help you break the rent habit.

George B. McClellan, secretary to Delegate Kalamianale, writes Secretary Wood of the Chamber of Commerce from Chicago that he will arrive in Honolulu about July 29.

In the monthly report of the Chamber of Commerce, read yesterday, it was noted that the taking off of the first class mails from arriving steamers for conveyance ashore in the Customs launch was working satisfactorily.

The police are preparing for extra work while the fleet is in port. The dormitories are being refurnished with cots and mosquito nets, it being the purpose of the sheriff to have the men working on extra watches sleep there.

Governor Frear has notified the Chamber of Commerce that that body has his thanks for the offer of the Chamber's services with reference to the Yukon Exposition, and he states he will take pleasure in notifying the Secretary of the Interior of the offer.

Owing to illness of Mrs. Herzer it will be impossible to produce "The Mascot" during the visit of the fleet. In consequence of this change the "Man of the Hour" will be put on the Opera House stage on Saturday night instead of Friday for the second performance.

An inquiry comes from Los Angeles relative to the whereabouts of Archie Herries, who disappeared from there about June 17. He is about twenty years old, six feet tall and was dressed when last seen in an elephant colored two piece suit, dark shoes and gray hat with lighter shade of ribbon. His mother is an invalid and is anxious to hear from him.

The Rapid Transit carmen will have a seven days' lot of work that will give them few hours off duty. Extra men have been added and it is said that lunches will be provided at the power house for the short lay-off necessary to curb the pangs of hunger. The Rapid Transit will have every car out in service and expects to be able to handle the crowds in excellent shape.

The presence of Clarence Harvey, the well known critic, dramatist and author of New York, in this city is opportune. He has consented to represent the Advertiser at the "Man of the Hour" performance on Thursday night and Friday morning's paper will contain a signed article telling of the play and the work done by the local people as commented on by one of the best dramatic critics in the United States.

The corner of Beretania and Emma has been the scene of a great many narrow escapes from automobile accidents and several smashups have happened there. Yesterday morning an auto driver named M. C. King who was carelessly driving his machine was arrested by Officer Fred Weed and will have to answer in the police court this morning to a charge of heedless driving.
